FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Northwest Fencing – Hires Senior Project Manager

Northwest Fencing, a Palisade Fence Systems dealer, is pleased to announce the addition of Rick Caldwell, P.ENG to their staff as Senior Project Manager. Mr. Caldwell joined the staff on 9 March 2010 and in addition to project management he will be providing consulting services for larger projects as well as increasing Palisade's ability to offer custom designed solutions.

"Palisade Fence Systems and Northwest Fencing are in the process of becoming the industry's foremost specialists in the arena of physical security," says CEO, Brent Sylvester. "Rick will be an integral part to our success in this new venture, as well as provide professional consulting services and project management for our current commercial and industrial clientele. This new range of services will help Palisade Fence Systems excel and become unparalleled within our industry."

Rick has a Civil Engineering Degree from Lakehead University with designation in Ontario and Alberta. He has experience in the field as a heavy equipment operator, civil engineering, operations management and project management within the forestry, oil & gas, and mining industries from 1984 to present.
